

Lecture Series

“Interdependencies”

07.05, 6:15-7:45pm
GEO1, R.323 (hybrid*)

“Shifting boundaries: exploring approaches in a more-than-human world”

+ 08.05, 10-12am
(Workshop, R.323)

Cornelia Steinhäuser (Department of Landscape Ecology, Uni Münster) &
Mayra Rojo Gomez (artist and interdisciplinary researcher, Mexico)

15.05, 12:15-1:45pm
GEO1, R.323

“Eating animals in the Anthropocene: Engaging feminist and indigenous ontologies for multispecies worlds”

Heide Bruckner (Department of Geography and Regional Science, Uni Graz)

22.05, 12:15-1:45pm
GEO1, R.323 (hybrid*)

“More-than-human Geographies”

Gerhard Rainer, Marc Daferner and Lukas Adolphi (Department of Geography, Katholische Universität Eichstätt-Ingolstadt)

25.05, 10:45-11:45am
Schlossplatz 2, Aula
(Keynote within NKG 2024)

“ResisTerra: Conceptualizing More-than-human Resistance of and for the Anthropocene”

Bob Kuřík (Department of Social and Cultural Anthropology, Charles University, Prague)

+ 25.05, 12-13:30am
Schlossplatz 2, S9
(Workshop within NKG 2024)

11.06, 6:15-7:45pm
GEO1, R.242 (hybrid*)

“Interdependency in an Autonomous Community: Exploring Integrated Autonomy and Intersectional/Heterarchical Power Dynamics in a Squatted Social Center”

Timothy Weldon (Department of Geography, Uni Münster)

18.06, 6:15-7:45pm
online

“Chemosocial interdependencies - ways of knowing and deciding on toxicity”

Johanna Kramm (Institute for Social-Ecological Research, Frankfurt am Main)

19.06, 12:15-1:45pm
online

“Why we need a more-than-human agricultural knowledge and what gets in the way”

Anna Krzywoszynska (History, Culture and Communication Studies, University of Oulu)

* This presentation will take place in a hybrid format.

 Also part of NKG 2024 (<https://kulturgeographie.org/>), but freely accessible for everyone.

 This presentation will be fully online.

(contact fynn.julian.kettner@uni-muenster.de for access link/further info)